Net metering allows eligible customers to receive credit for producing excess electricity on their property if the electric generation system is primarily intended to offset the customer's own usage. For you to receive the credits provided under the net metering program, we are required to collect basic information from you about your generation system.

Please complete the information attached and return it to us within 30 business days. We will carefully review it and respond within 10 business days with a determination of eligibility. If you are found to be eligible for net metering services, you will be required to submit an application for interconnection to ComEd. Interconnection allows your system to interact with the electric distribution system flowing in and out of your property. You have 30 business days after you receive a final determination from IGS to complete the application for interconnection.

If you do not complete the application for interconnection or it is denied, IGS will remain your electric supplier, but we will not be able to provide you with net metering benefits.

If you have already received approval for interconnection from ComEd, please include a record of that approval with the information attached.

Please contact the net metering team if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

IGS Energy
